

The English water market is opening up for business

From April 2017, the water market in England will be fully open to competition – this means that all businesses will be able to switch providers.

Previously, only businesses which used over 5 megalitres per year were eligible to switch their water provider. Under the new legislation, all businesses, charities and public sector customers can switch both their water and wastewater provider, irrespective of annual consumption.

This is beneficial for businesses because it will promote lower prices and greater flexibility in the water market.

Opening up the water market in England may result in several of the existing water suppliers withdrawing from the commercial market.

Apollo Energy can provide a complete water solution for your business, from SMEs to large organisations, single site or multiple - we can secure the best fit contract, saving you time and money.

It is important that you act now to ensure that you are in a position to gain an advantage as soon as the water market opens in England.
